Melbourne Market Operating Rules

November 2015

Understanding the Operating Rules

Safety within the Market place is paramount. The new Melbourne Market is designed to allow you to work easily, safely and more cost-effectively.

It's your responsibility to understand and follow the new operating rules so the Market runs smoothly and we can all make the most of the new site.

Please take the time to read the operating rules at www.melbournemarket.com.au/operatingrules.

Together we can make the best use of the new facilities, reduce waste, keep the Market clean and make the Melbourne Market a safe place to work and do business.

How are the new rules enforced?

The operating rules are enforced through a demerit point system – similar to that used by VicRoads for driver licences – which links behaviours of employees to the employer's record. Ultimately, employers are responsible for the actions and behaviours of their employees on Market land.

- If an access card holder loses five demerit points within two years, their access card can be cancelled.
- If there are four occasions of a serious breach by employees of a business over a one year period, a lease or license of a business could be terminated.

An appeals process has been created, so if you don't agree with an alleged breach of the rules you can appeal.

Our Market Relations Officers are here to monitor compliance with the operating rules. For your safety and the safety of others, everyone must follow all reasonable instructions from these Market personnel.

Examples of offences

- Fail to display or produce access card (1 Demerit point)
- Smoking in non-designated area (1 Demerit point)

Important things to remember about the new operating rules

Nominee

Each business must identify a nominee who is responsible for themselves and their employees complying with the operating rules. The nominee must be present or contactable whenever their team members are on site.

Access

- Always carry and display your access card.
- Do not allow another person to use your access card.
- Only enter the Market during designated times.

Conduct on Market land

- Make sure noise levels are within acceptable limits.
- The site is smoke-free, except in designated areas.
- Do not consume any alcohol on site.

Vehicle, road and traffic management

- Always display a valid parking permit.
- Use pedestrian walkways where possible.

Workplace health and Safety

- Wear safety clothing.
- Always use lights at night
- Obey speed limit.
- Report any injuries to a Market Relations Officer as soon as possible.

Recycling

- Follow the recycling procedure when disposing of all rubbish and waste products.
- Any waste not properly disposed of will be cleared up at the cost of the person responsible for it.
- Remove your waste from the trading floor at the end of trade and dispose of it in the designated areas.

Trading on Market land

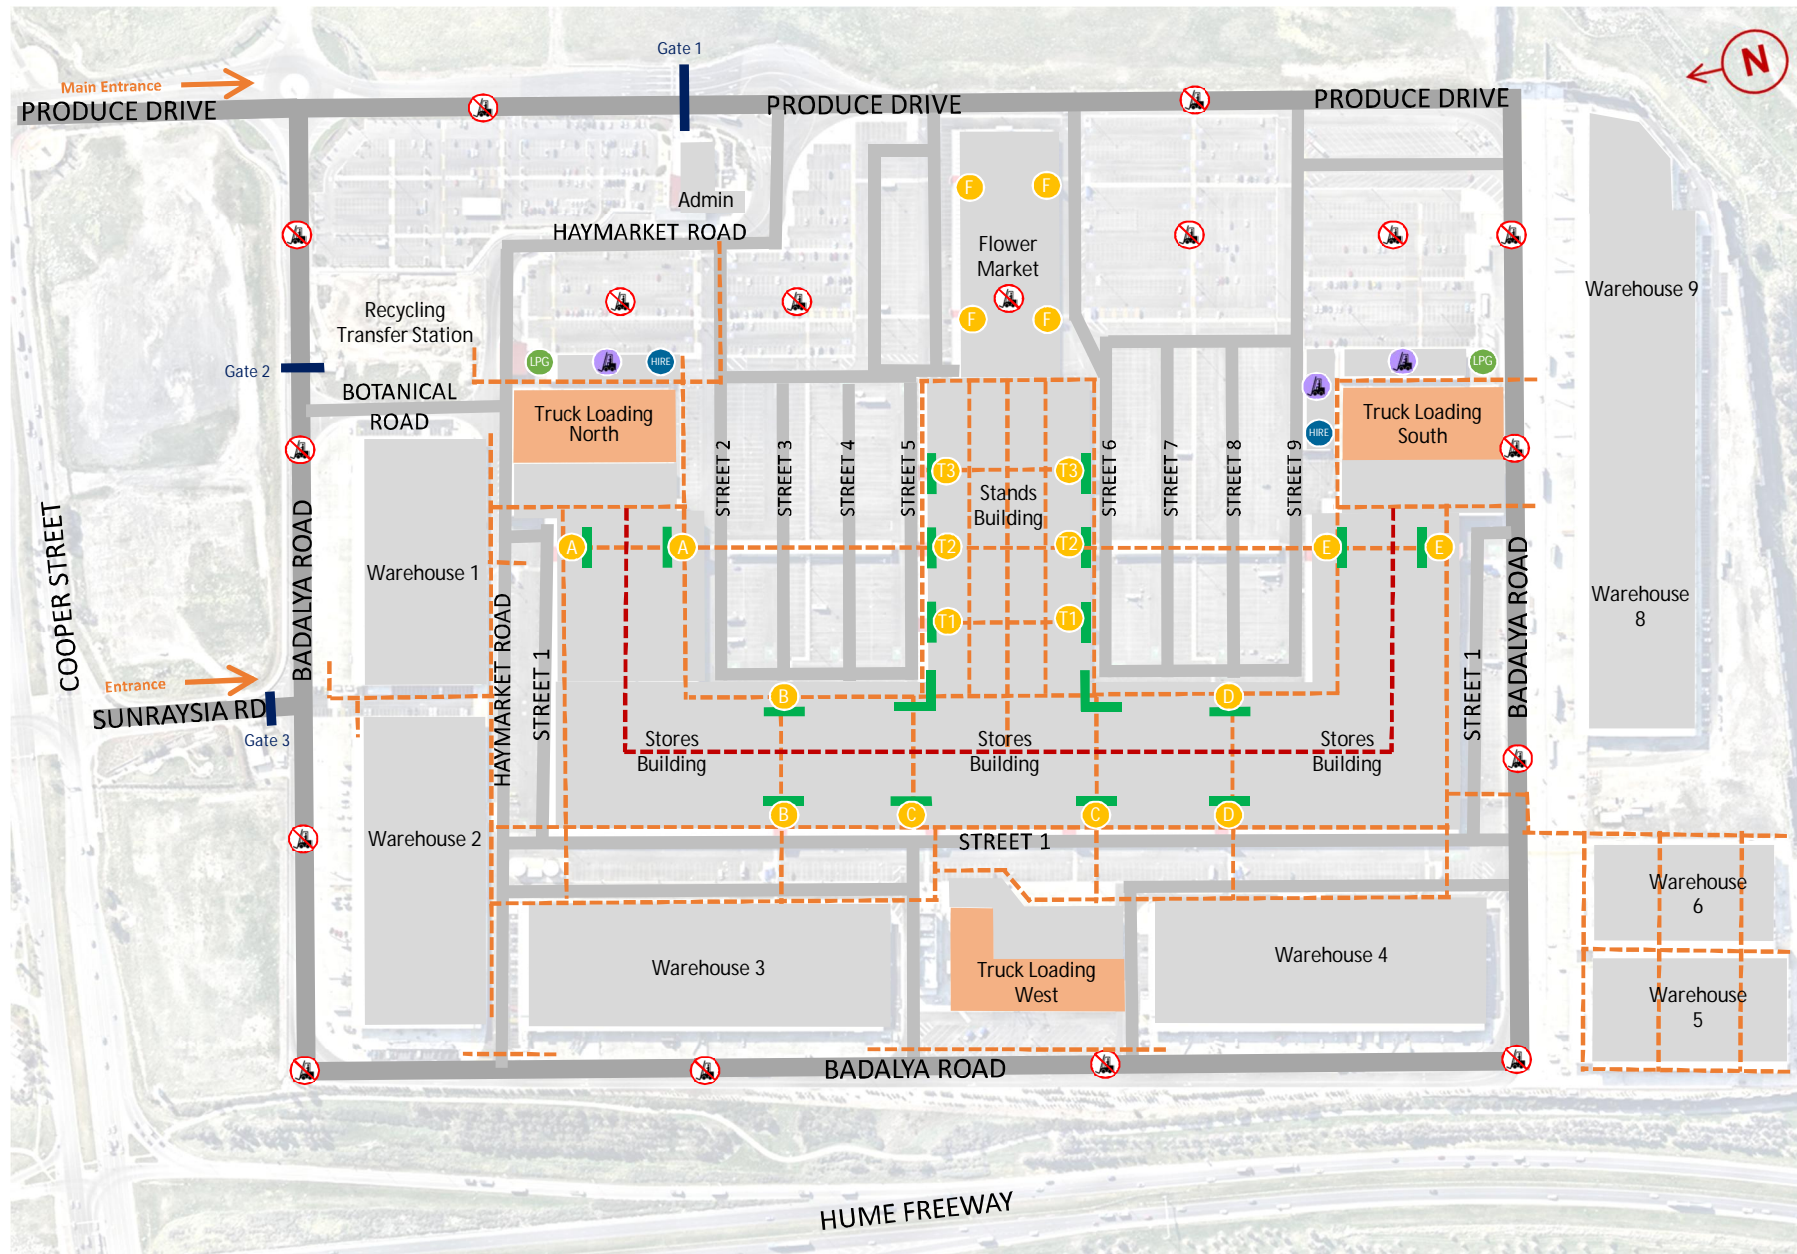

- Do not sort or repack goods within a parking bay.
- Direct sales may only take place within prescribed times.
- Direct sales must not take place in the warehouse precinct.
